And if the runs-sellers the carry Mr. Wood into office by giving hun their outes and indicence, they certainly reckones without their host, for no sooner had be possessed himself of the chair of office, than he commenced closing the grog-shops, alike or without their host, for no sooner had be possessed himself of the chair of othice, than he commenced closing the grog-shops, alike of high and low degree, on Sundays, and tor the first time in many years the streets of New York have been free from the distracte of Kentham and the streets of Mankenness on the Sabbah day. If folks must drink on Sunday now, they must purchase their liquor on Saturday night. In a word, our new Mayor promises to be the best we have ever had. He is rich, independent, energetic, and careless of offending any one in the rigid performance of his duties. We now hear now word of complaint from those who were most bitselfy opposed to him; all respect his honesty and perseverance in well-doing. With Myron H. Clark, the Governer, it is different. He, poor man, has already began to taste the bitterness of office, and is pretty roundly abused by those who erstwhile lauded him to the skirs. What a pity it is that he cannot find offices for Risself and Ill Action H. NaAliet's day of the second of the skirs.
